

Privacy & Cookies Policy

The methods used to manage the www.ethosonline.it website are described on this page, in reference to processing of the personal data of users who consult the website. This information is provided pursuant to art.13 Regulation (Eu) 2016/679 (hereinafter Regulation), issued in the matter of "protection of personal data", for users of the services of our website, provided via the Internet. The information does not apply to other websites consulted via our links, for which Ethos S.r.l. is not liable in any way.

The Data Controller

The Data Controller of the data processed when our website is consulted is Ethos S.r.l., with registered office in Via A. Manzoni - Frazione Stella - Monsampolo del Tronto (AP).

Location, purposes and disclosure of the data

The processing connected with the services of this website is performed at the aforementioned registered office of the Company, by employees and collaborators of Ethos S.r.l. responsible for processing and by any other people assigned to this. The personal data provided by users submitting requests for services is used for the sole purpose of providing the service and is not disclosed to third parties, unless disclosure is required by law or is strictly necessary to fulfil the requests. The data, which will not be disclosed, may be communicated to third parties exclusively for management of the services connected with our website.

Types of data processed

Browsing data

The computer systems and software procedures used by this website acquire certain personal data, during normal functioning, which is transmitted implicitly through use of the Internet communication protocols.

This information is not collected to be associated with identified individuals, but could, by its nature, through processing and association with data held by third parties, allow users to be identified.

This data includes IP addresses and domain names of the computers used to connect to the website, the URI (Uniform Resource Identifier) addresses of the resources requested, the time of the request, the method used to submit the request to the server, the size of the file obtained in response, the digital code indicating the status of the response from the server (successful, error, etc.) and other parameters relating to the operating system and the user's computer.

This data is used solely to obtain anonymous statistical information on use of the website and to check correct functioning and is deleted immediately after processing. The data could be used to check for liability in the case of possible computer crimes damaging the website.

Data provided optionally by the user

Optional, explicit and voluntary sending of e-mails to the addresses indicated on this website leads to subsequent acquisition of the sender's address, in order to respond to the requests, and also any other data contained in the e-mail.

Specific summary information is progressively reported or displayed on the pages of the website dedicated to particular services on request.

Cookies

This website uses cookies and similar technologies to guarantee correct functioning of the procedures and to improve the experience of using on-line applications. Cookies are small text files stored on the hard disk of a computer. They simplify analysis of web traffic or indicate when a specific website is being visited, as well as allowing web applications to send information to individual users.

Detailed information on use of cookies and similar technologies, how they are used by Ethos S.r.l. and how to manage them is provided below.

Ethos S.r.l. uses the following types of cookies:

- "technical" cookies:

These cookies are needed for browsing and guarantee secure and efficient browsing of the website. Google Analytics cookies are also used solely to collect information, in aggregate form, on the number of users and how they visit the website. These are third-party cookies collected and managed anonymously to monitor and improve the services of the host website (performance cookies).

For further information on the Google cookies policy, refer to the link indicated below:
http://www.google.com/intl/it_ALL/analytics/learn/privacy.html

- "Analytical" cookies:

These cookies are used to collect and analyze the traffic and the use of a website anonymously. These are third-party cookies collected and managed anonymously to monitor and improve the performance of the host site (performance cookies). These cookies, even without identifying the user, allow, for example, to detect if the same user returns to connect at different times. They also allow you to monitor the system and improve its performance and usability. The deactivation of these cookies can be performed without any loss of functionality. (For more information on the Google cookies policy, please refer to the link below:
http://www.google.com/intl/it_ALL/analytics/learn/privacy.html)

The user may decide whether or not to accept the cookies using their own browser settings.

Total or partial disabling of cookies:

Total or partial disabling of technical cookies could prevent use of certain functions of the website reserved to registered users. However, use of public contents is possible even when cookies are completely disabled.

Disabling "third-party" cookies does not affect browsing in any way.

The setting must be defined specifically for the different websites and web applications.

The best browsers allow different settings to be defined for "proprietary" cookies and "third-party" cookies.

The procedures for disabling cookies of several browsers are shown below.

Firefox:

1. Open Firefox
2. Press "Alt" on the keyboard
3. On the instruments bar at the top of the browser, select "Instruments", then "Options"
4. Select the "Privacy" option
5. Go to "Chronology settings", then "Use customised settings". Deselect "Accept cookies from websites" and save the preferences.

Internet Explorer:

1. Open Internet Explorer
2. Click on "Instruments" and then on "Internet Options"
3. Select the "Privacy" option and scroll to the desired privacy level (up to block all cookies and down to allow all cookies)
4. Then click on OK

Google Chrome:

1. Open Google Chrome
2. Click on "Instruments"
3. Select "Settings" and then "Advanced settings"
4. Select "Content settings" under "Privacy"
5. On the "Cookies" option, it is possible to deselect the cookies and save the preferences

Safari:

1. Open Safari
2. Choose "Preferences" on the instruments bar, then select the "Security" panel in the dialogue window which follows
3. In the "Accept cookies" section, it is possible to specify if and when Safari saves cookies from the websites. Click on the Help button (question mark) for further information
4. For more information on the cookies stored on your computer, click on "Show cookies"

Optional providing of data

Other than what is specified for browsing data, the user is free to provide personal data to request the services offered by the company. It may be impossible to obtain the service requested if the data is not provided.

Data processing methods

The personal data is processed manually or automatically, for the time necessary to achieve the purpose for which it has been collected.

The personal data processed is kept in a manner to reduce the risks of destruction or loss of the data, even accidental, unauthorised access or illegal processing or processing unrelated to the purposes of collection to a minimum, by adopting appropriate and preventive security measures.

Rights of the parties concerned

In relation to the processing of your personal data, you that can contact the Data Controller and the Data Protection Officer by writing to info@ethosonline.it , to assert your rights as required by the Regulation: specifically for access, correction, updating, blocking, revocation of consent in accordance with applicable regulations, the limitation of processing, data portability and deletion of data. At the same address you could therefore ask to oppose for legitimate reasons, processing (e.g. you can object to one or more of the methods for achieving the purposes indicated in point a of this privacy statement).

Finally, we remind you that you have the right to lodge a complaint with the supervisory authority.